ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The idea for publishing this book came about primarily as a result of reviewing THE PAYNES OF VIRGINIA by Brooke PAYNE. Using the basic knowledge which he provided on the first PAYNES who arrived in Virginia in the 17th century, my book traces some of their descendants.

My research was facilitated by having available family records which had been maintained and preserved by my mother-in-law Mary Isabelle (RINER) PAYNE, and Montelle (PAYNE) ROYSTON of Clarke County, Virginia.

Also, I wish to thank the many other PAYNE family members for the information they furnished, and their loan of family pictures so that PAYNE descendants can better know their fathers and mothers.

I am grateful to my son Frederick for the technical assistance he provided in formatting records and storing them in the computer.

Finally, I wish to recognize the assistance of my husband, Riner Champ PAYNE, without whose help and patience this book would not have been published. He explored graveyards, researched records in Federal and State Archives, County courthouses, and libraries, drove hundreds of miles to locate PAYNE descendants, assisted with interviews, made suggestions, and helped with the final preparation of the text.

NOTE: Since Madge spent the last 10 years of her life working on this book, I have preserved her wording and intent to the extent practical. She should be recognized as the primary author.

FOOTNOTES:

Footnotes are used to cite the authority for statements made or to explain or qualify statements. Footnotes are numbered consecutively for each chapter beginning with "1". They are placed at the end of each chapter following the text.

NAMES:

Surnames are capitalized. Maiden surnames of married women are capitalized and placed in parentheses before married surnames, e.g., Mary (SMITH) PAYNE.

NUMBERING:

A number is assigned to each individual in this book beginning with Generation V (Sanford PAYNE), according to the system devised by Reginald Buchanan HENRY. The number of digits (plus four) represents the generation. The numbers show the order of birth within a generation. Thus, the first child in a generation is "1", the second child, "2" etc. The first child of "1" is "11,", and the second child of "11" is "112." If that family has more than nine children, the number to denote a 10th child would be "11(10)."

This basic concept is specifically illustrated by the following:

7 = Sanford PAYNE (Generation V)
72 = Travers (Travis) PAYNE, 2nd child of Sanford
723 = James Sanford PAYNE, Sr., 3rd child of Travers, etc.

It should be noted that the earlier PAYNE families beginning with John PAYNE are identified by generation only, using consecutive Roman numerals.

CALENDAR CHANGES:

Britain and its colonies changed from the Julian to the Gregorian calendar in 1752. Prior to 1752, New Years Day was March 25. The New Year beginning on January 1 caused problems in dates falling between January, and March 25th. Thus, double dating was used during this period and a date might be written January 15, 1718/1719. The dates given in this history are those dates as recorded in the records.

INTRODUCTION

Part of the difficulty in locating PAYNE ancestors lies in the name itself--its meaning and, hence, its questionable value in determining early blood relationships; and in the fact that PAYNE was and is such a common name both in England and in the United States. Also PAYNES have no single characteristic or vocation that indicates relationships. Their vocations are so different that one is reminded of the childrens' rhyme:

> Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Sailor,
> Rich man, Poor man, Beggarman, Thief,
> Doctor, Lawyer, Merchant Chief.

Many PAYNE descendants remained in Virginia. Many others migrated so that now they may be found throughout the United States.

Other factors impede the retrieval of information. For example, boundaries of early Virginia and its political subdivisions were constantly changing. Many records have been destroyed over the years, particularly those in Virginia Courthouses during the War Between the States. Records may be non-existent because information was never recorded. Maintaining life in the wilderness was more important than maintaining records.

The Name PAYNE

The name PAYNE derives form the Latin word "paganus" meaning "pagan" or "countryman" or both. It is said that the PAYNES of England came from Normandy; and that they received the name

"paganus" when they refused to be baptized at the time the Norman Chief, Rollo, became a Christian in A.D. 912. In this instance "countryman" and "pagan" might be considered almost synonymous since, in Western Europe, Christianity was accepted more slowly in the rural areas than in the cities. Thus, PAYNE as well as "paganus" was sometimes used to distinguish pagans or countrymen and did not always denote a blood relationship between two people with the same name.

The most common spelling of the name in Virginia is P-a-y-n-e. Colonel Brooke PAYNE said that all family members of the Northern Neck (the area of Virginia between the Potomac and Rappahannock Rivers) have spelled the name P-a-y-n-e since the time of the American Revolution. The most common spelling of the name in New England today is P-a-i-n-e.[1]

In early Virginia records, names were not always spelled uniformly. For example, in the Virginia land records, John PAYNE's name was spelled P-a-y-n-e in Patent Book 3 when he obtained land on Pepetick Creek in 1653, and P-a-i-n-e in Patent Book 5 when he sold the same land in 1662.[2] In the National Archives, one can find military or other indexes with one spelling and related records, with another. Census records may spell an individual's name differently at different times. In courthouse records, one can find deeds or wills with an individual's name spelled two different ways in the same document. I have seen surnames of members of the same family spelled P-a-y-n-e, P-a-y-n, P-a-i-n-e, P-a-i-n, and P-a-n-e. Different spellings do not, in themselves, prove or disprove location or relationships.

As for the frequency of the PAYNE name, Augusta Francelia PAYNE WHITE, in the PAYNES of Hamilton, says that the records reveal "a multitudinous collection of PAYNES in England" and that almost all of the 34 coats of arms attributed to the PAYNES in Burke's Armory are unlike. After examining 450 PAYNE wills, she concluded, "The size of the PAYNE family shows how impossible it is to find the ancestry of any early immigrant of that name in this country." With no real proof, the arms, "gules a fess between two lions passant argent" have been generally adopted by the PAYNES of Virginia.[3]

In 1790, there was a "multitudinous collection of PAYNES" in the New World too. For, when the United States Census was taken in 1790, it showed that 463 separate PAYNE families were living in the newly independent country, 60 of which were living in Virginia.[4]

After years of sifting through records, Colonel PAYNE was unable to identify with certainty the branch of the family in England from which the PAYNES of Virginia had descended. He suggested that future historians search in the records of the PAYNES of Devon in Southwest England or in the records of Jersey.

Changing Virginia Boundaries and Repositories

Except for its Eastern borders on the Chesapeake Bay and the Atlantic Ocean, seventeenth Century Virginia boundaries were imprecise and the size and shape of Virginia differed at different times. In the early years of English colonization, all of North America except for lands claimed by Spain or France was called Virginia. In 1606, King James granted a joint charter to two companies--one headquartered in London (the Virginia or London Company) and the other headquartered in Plymouth (England). The London Company succeeded in establishing a settlement at Jamestown. Under the London Company's second charter in 1608, Virginia extended from the Atlantic Ocean indefinitely to the West; and for 200 miles north and 200 miles south of Old Point Comfort on Virginia's Eastern Shore.

In 1634, Maryland was settled, and the Potomac River became Virginia's northeastern boundary. In 1665, the southern boundary was established when the King gave all land south of Currituck Inlet to the proprietors of Carolina.

Several changes took place before the northern and western boundaries, as we know them, were finally determined. In 1779, Virginia and Pennsylvania officials settled a long-standing border dispute, and Pittsburgh and its surrounding area were given to Pennsylvania. In 1783, Virginia's western borders were established at the Mississippi River by terms of the Treaty of Paris which ended the American Revolution. At that time, Virginia included, not only its present territory, but also the present States of West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, and part of Minnesota. In 1784, Virginia gave its "old northwest territory" to the new nation. This included land north of the Ohio River which became the States of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, and part of Minnesota.

In 1792, Kentucky became a separate State, taking with it nine Virginia counties. The final change to Virginia territory came when, in 1863,

West Virginia elected to become a State, taking with it 50 of Virginia's counties (one-third of Virginia's territory).[5]

In addition to changes in Virginia's external boundaries, the boundaries and names of subdivisions within the colony (and State) underwent many changes. Counties came into being, when, in 1634, the Virginia General Assembly created eight shires (counties) encompassing all settlements in the James River area and on the Eastern Shore. As the population increased and pushed inland, existing courthouses became more remote. Beginning in 1636, petitions were circulated to change existing county lines. Since that time, county boundaries and names have been changed, new counties have been formed, and existing counties have been dissolved.[6]

It was not uncommon for members of a family to have records in several different courthouses--even if the family remained in the same location. For example, William PAYNE, in the 1730's, inherited 700 acres of land from his brother "which was first in Stafford Co; in 1731, it was in Prince William Co; and in 1742, in Fairfax Co."[7]

CHAPTER 1:

PAYNE FAMILY

BEGINNINGS IN VIRGINIA

Many accounts have been published of the coming of the PAYNES to Virginia. The most prevalent and widely accepted stories tell of three brothers (named Sir Robert, William, and John by most writers) who came to Virginia, usually in 1619 or 1620. Brooke PAYNE analyzed 17 separate accounts of this first PAYNE arrival and, in the end, rejected all of them.[1]

Most writers had based their statements regarding the three brothers on a list of names in Captain John SMITH's General Historie of Virginia, published in 1624. This list, entitled, "The Names of the Adventurers for Virginia, Alphabetically set down, according to a printed Booke, set out by the Treasurer and Councell in this present yeere, 1620," included the names, Sir Robert, William, and John PAYNE. The list, however, also included the names of the Archbishop of Canterbury and Lord North--and the names of 900 others, most of whom never came to Virginia. There is evidence that Sir Robert, William, and John were investors at different times in the London Company, but there is no evidence that they came to Virginia with John SMITH.

They, like the Archbishop of Canterbury and Lord North, were merely stockholders in the company. This conclusion would seem to be confirmed by the definitions of "planters" and "adventurers" in the Second Charter of the London Company, May 23, 1609, which says, "Nominated as Planters were those who go there in person to dwell themselves and Adventurers, those who venture their mony and go not in person . . . "[2]

Even if one discards the accounts of the PAYNE brothers arriving with John SMITH, both British and colonial records provide evidence that PAYNEs did arrive in Virginia from England in the 17th century. It is certain also that they arrived by way of the Chesapeake Bay. As Captain SMITH said, "There is but one entrance by sea into this country and that is at the mouth of a very great bay . . . The Cape on the south side is called Cape Henrie . . . The north Cape is called Cape Charles."[3]

Englishmen were willing to leave England and settle in the New World for a variety of reasons. During the 17th century, there was great political turmoil in England and, eventually, civil war and a beheaded monarch. England became a dangerous place to live for those who had supported the King. Also, England abounded with poor young men with few prospects for the future. Even in families of means, generally only the oldest son could inherit so that many younger sons were reduced to poverty when a parent died.

Virginia's Governor, George Yeardley, aware of the hunger that many Englishmen had for land, and of the need for settlers in Virginia, began, in February 1626/27, to issue land grants (patents) under the following circumstances: "(1) as a dividend in return for investment in the founding of the colony; (2) as a reward for special service to the colony; (3) as a stimulus to fortify the frontier; and (4) as a method of encouraging immigration by the headright system."[4]

The headright system was the most successful method of promoting settlement in the colony until the latter part of the 17th century. Under this system, a person who paid his or her own way to Virginia would be granted 50 acres of land; and 50 more acres for each additional person whose transportation he paid provided that he agreed to reside there for three years. Nell

Marion NUGENT, who abstracted and published the available land patents stored in the Virginia Land Office in Richmond, VA, explained that being listed as a headright did not indicate that an individual was of a particular class. Headrights could "include people of all social classes: nobility and gentry, yeomanry, indentured servants (many of whom were of good families in England), and negroes."[5]

John PAYNE is considered to be the "immigrant ancestor" of the branch of the family discussed in this book. He is designated as Generation I. We do not know exactly when or why he came to Virginia. Names of early Virginia immigrants were easily obtained only if they were patentees of land. Brooke PAYNE believed it likely that John PAYNE emigrated from England because he had supported King Charles during the political upheaval in that country. And, indeed, records show that many Englishmen came to Virginia during this period. George Cabell GREER, in his Early Virginia Immigrants, lists the following early immigrants named "PAIN," "PAINE," or "PAYNE.": PAIN Sam, 1654; PAINE, Florentine, 1642, Georg, 1638, Majèr, 1652, Richard, 1635, Florentine, 1651, Henry, 1652, Robt., 1653, John, 1642, Wm., 1642, Wm., 1642, Elizabeth, 1656, Margaret, 1656, Mary, 1654, John, 1653, and Mary, 1654; PAYNE, Robert, 1653, Tho., 1652, Sarah, 1652, Edw., 1650, Tho., 1650, Tho., 1645, Jno., Jr., 1656, Richard, 1654, PAYNES, Thos., 1650.

There is evidence that John PAYNE, the immigrant ancestor, arrived in Virginia several years earlier, but his name first appears in the land records in the State Archives in Richmond, VA, as part of a land description in 1653. Patent Bk. No. 3 shows that he purchased 940 acres on the north side of Pepetick Creek (in Lancaster Co. until Rappahannock Co. was formed in 1656) from Francis HOBBS on 15 Nov 1653; and that he purchased adjoining land on 6 Oct 1656 for transporting 13 persons to Virginia under the headright system, including Margaret _____ and John PAINE, Jr.[6]

On its eastern border, Virginia is divided into peninsulas by the James, York, Rappahannock, and Potomac Rivers. The land between the Rappahannock and Potomac Rivers is called the Northern Neck. In addition to the land originally obtained through the headright system, John PAYNE obtained large tracts of land in the Northern Neck at different times. During this period, Northern Neck counties were being formed or dissolved or their boundaries were changed to accommodate the changing population. For example, Northumberland Co. was formed, 1645. Lancaster Co. was formed when Northumberland Co. was divided, 1651. Westmoreland Co. was formed from western Northumberland Co., 1653. Old Rappahannock Co. was formed from the lower part of Lancaster Co., 1656. (Old Rappahannock Co. should not be confused with the present Rappahannock Co., which was formed in 1833.) Old Rappahannock Co. was dissolved in 1692 when it was divided. The area on the north side of the Rappahannock River became Richmond Co., and on the south side, Essex Co. Records of Old Rappahannock Co. were kept in Essex Co. Stafford Co., northwest of Westmoreland Co. was formed in 1664. Stafford Co. included the present counties of Prince William (1731), Fairfax (1742), Loudoun (1757), Fauquier (1759), and Alexandria (now Arlington).[7]

John lived from about 1615 to the winter of 1689/90 when he died at his home, "Red House," now in Westmoreland Co., and was apparently buried in the family graveyard.[8] He was a planter, boat owner, and carpenter, and served on the Vestry of Sittenbourne Parish in Old Rappahannock Co. He owned only the land on Pepetick Creek at the time of his death. Although he left a will bequeathing part of the land to his sons, the will has been lost and its existence is known only through references to it in other documents such as deeds when his descendants sold their shares of the land.[9]

Brooke PAYNE thought it likely that John's wife, Margaret, was a second wife because of differences in the ages of his sons. John is known to have had several children, probably including daughters. But the loss of the will and the fact that women were seldom mentioned in court records make it possible to identify with certainty only four of his children:

Richard, John Jr., William, George

CHAPTER 2:

THE SONS OF JOHN PAYNE

RICHARD PAYNE
GENERATION II

Although the highly regarded historians, Horace Edwin HAYDEN in Virginia Genealogies and Frank MUNSELL in American Ancestry state that Richard was born in Northumberland County in 1633, no proof has been found for the statements. Since his father's birth has been fairly well established as being around 1615, this early birthdate seems suspect. The first known court record concerning Richard was a deed in Lancaster County in 1655 from his father giving him a heifer; and the last, a deed in Richmond county in 1696, in which he gave his brother, George, land on Pepetick Creek. Richard's death date has not been determined (possibly because many court records around the end of the 17th century or the beginning of the 18th century have been lost.) Nor is the name of his wife known.

Brooke PAYNE accepted Richard as the ancestor of the branch of the family discussed in his book, The Paynes of Virginia (Sections A and D, pp 57-59, 61-222, and 480-528), ". . . because tradition has it that way . . . " and "... court records seem to confirm the tradition."

Many of Richard's descendants remained in Virginia, particularly in Westmoreland, King George, Culpeper, and Fauquier Counties (especially in the Warrenton area); others migrated South, many settling in Alabama and Mississippi; some went to Texas. Still others migrated to areas throughout the United States.

Among distinguished descendants of Richard PAYNE are:

-- Capt. William PAYNE (Captain Pepper), (31 Mar 1755-19 Sep 1837), commander of the Falmouth Blues during the American Revolution and builder of "Clifton" in 1799 in Fauquier County, VA. (see pp 80-83, The Paynes of Virginia).

-- Bishop John PAYNE, missionary in Liberia, W. Africa. He was born and died in Westmoreland County, VA. He is buried on the grounds of the Virginia Theological Seminary in Alexandria, VA. (see pp 127-131, The Paynes of Virginia). The epitaph on his tombstone reads:

In Memory of Rt. Rev. John Payne DD
First Missionary Bishop of the P. E. Church at Cape Palmas, W. Africa.
Born Jan 9, 1815, Westmoreland Co, VA
Graduated Theo Sem of VA, 1836
Preached the Gospel in Africa 33 yrs.
Died at Cavalla, VA Oct 23, 1874.

Of vigorous mind, sound heart, strong faith and inflexible purpose, uniting the meekness of wisdom with the most Ardent love for God and man,
He laid down his life in the spirit of his master to the end.

The last words spoken by him in St Paul's, Alex, VA, when he had been consecrated Bishop tell the story of his life.

Experience by faith, I am the stream
Thy flowing wounds supply
Redeeming love has been my home
And shall be till I die.

-- William Henry Fitzhugh PAYNE, (27 Jan 1830-29 Mar 1904), was born in Warrenton, VA, and was admitted to the Warrenton Bar in 1851 after studying law at the University of Virginia. He had a distinguished career as a lawyer. He also had a distinguished military career, serving during the entire Civil War in the Confederate Army. He left service as a Brigadier General. (See pp 143-145, The Paynes of Virginia).

-- Brooke PAYNE, (10 May 1872-3 Apr 1938), was the author of a comprehensive history of the PAYNE family from their arrival in the New World until 1937, The Paynes of Virginia. He was born in Warrenton, VA; graduated from the United States Military Academy, West Point, in June 1895; was a veteran of World War I; and spent most of his life in the military service. He retired as a colonel after which he taught for several years. He died in Charlottesville, VA, and is buried in the Warrenton Cemetery. (See pp 185-186, The Paynes of Virginia). Brooke PAYNE's research papers are located in the Manuscript Department of the University of Virginia Library, Charlottesville, VA.

M. Anne WALKER ca 1668

The first known court record concerning John, Jr. was a deed filed by John PAYNE, Sr. in Lancaster County, VA, 10 Nov 1655, giving his sons, Richard and John, Jr. each a heifer. John, Jr. died young in old Rappahannock County. On 23 Mar 1670, John PAYNE, Sr. and his wife, Margaret, made a deed to John, Jr's. widow for land on Pepetick Creek. Records of the administration of John's estate may be found in Essex County. He had only one child, Elizabeth, born after his death. Brooke PAYNE in The Paynes of Virginia, gives only a brief account of John, Jr. and Elizabeth and her children on pages 53-56 and 59 and 60. His will (20 Jun 1769; pro. 16 Sep 1776) left his plantation to his wife, Anne, "if she chooses"; otherwise, to son Edward, who is to have the care of his half-brother, John during his minority.

Of William's, Generation II, five children, only William, child 2 (Generation III) is known to have had children. His older half-sister, Anne (child 1) may have had two daughters by Vincent COX.

Edward (ca 1693-1702). Edward lived and died in Westmoreland County. At his death, the 700 acres of land in Stafford County (later Fairfax County) left him by his father's will passed to his older brother, William.

Elizabeth (ca 1695-after 1728). She was born in Westmoreland County and married John STURMAN there. John had a son, Richard.

Mary (ca 1697-after 1724). She was born in Westmoreland County. Her father's will (1697-1698) left 10,000 pounds to be given to her when she reached 16 years. She married _____ BURNS. She is not known to have had children.

William (Generation III) had seven known children.

His sons (Generation IV), William, Edward, Sanford, and John all participated in the American Revolution and directly affected the migration and settlement patterns of their descendants. William's role is unclear. Washington

Irving said that "he did more than any other man to keep up the financial end of the Revolution." Brooke PAYNE said that he could find no evidence of strictly military service although descendants often designated him as "colonel." Several of William's descendants have become members of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution on the basis of his service "as a captain in the 1st Virginia Regiment under Col. George Gibson." That his service was substantial is evidenced by the award of 10,000 acres of land in what is now Kentucky. Edward served on the Committee of Public Safety in Fairfax County in 1774. Sanford is credited with public service for having furnished "provisions and necessities" for the American troops. John served in the _____ of Fairfax Co., VA.

Anne (ca 1714-?) (Generation IV)

William (Generation IV), (31 Jul 1724, Westmoreland Co. - 12 Jul 1782, Fairfax Co.) William M. Mrs. Susannah (CLARK) BROWN 3 Feb 1748, Fairfax Co. Susannah was born 17 Dec 1721 and died 22 Feb 1771. In 1755, William was listed as a free-holder in Fairfax Co. In that year, also, he is reported by Parson WEEMS in his "Life of WASHINGTON" to have knocked WASHINGTON down with his cane in a dispute over candidates for the House of Burgesses. They subsequently became good friends. In 1758, William leased a mill seat at Accotink (part of Ravensworth) for 99 years. In 1761, William was named sheriff of Fairfax County; 1763, Church Warden of Falls Church; and 1765, a Vestryman of Fairfax Parish. In 1762, William's father deeded to him personal property and a leasehold of 6 acres with a water grist mill. In 1770, he was a justice for Fairfax County. In 1774, William, was a member of the Alexandria Committee for Public Safety.

He performed valuable service during the American Revolution for which he was awarded 10,000 acres in what later became Kentucky. He left a will dated 27 May 1782 (pro. 20 Aug 1782) dividing his Kentucky land among his children. He also disposed of his mill seat at Accotink. William had the following children: Alicia, 1749; William, 14 Feb 1751; Mary, 23 Feb 1753; Benjamin Clarke, 28 Dec 1755; Penelope, 7 Dec 1757; Anne, 4 Jul 1759; and Devall, 1 Jun 1763.

Edward (Generation IV) (18 Nov 1726, Westmoreland Co. - 17 May 1806, Fayette Co., KY). Edward m. Anne Holland CONYERS, 27 Feb 1749/50, Stafford Co. Anne was born 23 Aug 1728, Stafford Co. and died 11 Jan 1806, Fayette Co, KY. In 1754: Edward bought 501 acres on Pope's Head Creek; 1763, his father deeded to him personal property; 1765, he was elected Truro Parish Church Warden; 1766, he built Payne's Church on Middle Ridge near Ox Rd. in Fairfax County; (Truro Church in the city of Fairfax is a replica of the church which was destroyed during the Civil War.) 1770, he became a Justice of the Peace for Fairfax County; 1772 and 1777, he bought land in Loudoun County but continued to live in Fairfax County; 1774, he was a member of the Fairfax County Committee of Safety; 1775, he was appointed sheriff of Fairfax County; 1778, he deeded land purchased in Loudoun County in 1772 to his son, Henry; 1785, he sold land in Fairfax and Loudoun Counties and moved with his family to Town Fork near Lexington (now KY); 1792, he was a member of the KY Constitutional Convention and Senatorial elector from Fayette Co. Tradition says that he gave land to Transylvania University and to the Baptist Church, Lexington, KY. He died intestate and is buried in the family graveyard in Fayette County. Edward had the following children: Theodosia, 18 Jan 1751; Sanford (Generation IV) (ca 1730, Westmoreland Co.-17 Dec 1792, Fairfax Co.) M. Abigail LAY, 1760. Abigail was born in Loudoun Co. 1740 and died in Fairfax Co. Nov 1820. Sanford belonged to the Church of England, Truro Parish. In 1762, Sanford's father deeded to him 6 acres and a water grist mill on Ravensworth estate which he had leased from Henry FITZHUGH for 99 years. In 1763, Sanford's father deeded personal property to him. In 1777, Sanford leased a parcel of 150 acres of land on Johnny Moore Run in Fairfax Co. from James WAUGH "for and during the life or lives of . . . Sanford PAYNE and Abigail his wife and Benjamin PAYNE his son and to the longest liver of them." On 17 Apr 1786, the lease was rewritten for 228 1/2 acres. In 1782, Sanford was reimbursed for provisions given the Americans during the American Revolution, including 500 # of beef. On 26 Jun 1786, Gov. Patrick HENRY granted 400 acres in Fayette Co., KY (then VA) for public service performed by Sanford during the Revolution. On 7 Apr 1787, Sanford made his will naming sons, Benjamin and George as executors and guardians of the younger children. In a codicil, he says, "I give and bequeath to my three sons [sic] my tract of land lying and being in the County of Fayetty containing four hundred acres to be equally divided . . . . ." Sanford had the following children: Benjamin, ca 1761; George, 1763; Sarah (Salley); Alicia (Lishyea); Ann; Helen; San(d)ford), 1770-1775; Jane (Ginny).

Henry, 26 Jan 1753; William, 21 Mar 1755; Elizabeth, 12 Mar 1757; Sanford, 7 Aug 1759; Edward Conyers, 7 Jan 1762/63; Daniel McCarty, 3 Nov 1764; Jilson, 3 Mar 1767; James Orlando, 2 Sep 1774.

John (Generation IV) (8 Apr 1764, Fairfax Co.-9 Sep 1837, KY). M. Betsy JOHNSON, 28 Jun 1787 Georgetown, KY. Betsy was born 10 Apr 1772 and probably died around 1846. John was a half-brother to William, Edward, and Sanford. In 1783, he was a deputy surveyor in Fayette County, KY. In 1786, he emigrated with his brother Edward to KY and, with brother, Edward, was granted 3335 acres on Slate Creek. He settled in Scott County, PAYNE's Depot near Georgetown. In 1812, he commanded troops against the Indians and was thereafter called "General" John PAYNE. 1830-1832, he was a State Senator from Scott County. John had the following children: Asa, 19 Mar 1788; Robert, 20 Dec 1789; Nancy, 16 Oct 1791; Sally, 16 Nov 1793; John, 15 Nov 1795; Elizabeth, 22 Jan 1798; Newton, 4 Jan 1800; William J., 26 Jan 1802; Thomas Jefferson, 3 Feb 1804; Franklin, 16 Mar 1806; Richard J., 26 Feb 1808; Emeline, 18 Mar 1810; Cyrus, 10 Nov 1812.

Mildred (Generation IV) (1764-1769-?). M. _____ RILEY. Descendants live in Scott County, KY.

Susan (Generation IV) (1764-1769-Probably before 1782 when her father's will was probated.)

George (Generation II)

George PAYNE's birthdate is not known, but is given in George H.S. KING's book, Marriages of Richmond County Virginia 1668-1853, around 1660. He married Jane WHITE of Westmoreland County. She was born in 1676 and probably died before George since his will makes no mention of a wife. In 1696, his brother, Richard deeded him land on Pepetick Creek. George lived near Leedstown until his death in 1711. He died in Richmond County, leaving a substantial personal estate of 21,157 pounds. He divided all of his land between his two oldest sons, George and John. He is buried in an unmarked grave at Red House (Cedar Hill).

George had the following children (Generation III): George ca 1694, John ca 1696, Thomas ca 1700, William ca 1702, and Jane 1703.

Brooke PAYNE discussed George and his descendants through Generation VIII (1937) in Section C, pages 367-479 of The Paynes of Virginia.

Many of George's descendants remained in Virginia, particularly in King George, Orange, Bath, Culpeper, Prince William, and Fauquier Counties. Those in Fauquier County settled principally in or near the village of Orlean. Others migrated to West Virginia, many to Taylor and Harrison Counties.

Although many of George's descendants distinguished themselves in the field of medicine and by their participation in the wars that involved Virginia, the most famous descendant of this line was John Barton PAYNE (26 Jan 1855-24 Jan 1935). He is discussed on pages 442-444 of The Paynes of Virginia.

Born in Pruntytown (now in West Virginia), John Barton's family returned to their farm at Orlean at the outbreak of the Civil War. (Orlean was established and named by his maternal grandfather after General JACKSON's victory at New Orleans.)

In 1876, John Barton (called Barton by his family) was admitted to the bar in Pruntytown. He became an internationally known lawyer and served in many important positions. He was Secretary of the Interior under President WILSON in 1920, and was named chairman of the American Red Cross in 1921, an organization that he served until his death.

John Barton never outgrew his love for Virginia or for his family. He lived, when not working in Washington, on his 1,000-acre farm near Warrenton. He made monetary gifts to the University of Virginia and to William and Mary College; and gave a collection of Old Masters to Battle Abbey in Richmond; $100,000 toward the erection of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts in Richmond; and a library to the town of Warrenton.

John Barton erected a stone wall and placed a plaque to mark the location of Red House near Leedstown. He erected a monument in Orlean Cemetery commemorating the service of members of his branch of the family in wars in which Virginia was involved. It reads:

SANFORD, TRAVERS, AND SANFORD PAYNE, SR.

GENERATION V 7

SANFORD PAYNE
(1770/1775-1835)

Sanford was b. in FxCo. between 1770-1775. He married Elizabeth Turley, date unknown, father Charles Turley. This appears to have been Sanford's second marriage.

Little is known about his specific activities although the record shows that he settled the estates of his father Sanford and his mother, Abigail, when his brothers George and Benjamin PAYNE were unable to perform settlement duties as specified in the edler Sanford's will.[1] He charged the estates for his mother, Abigail's board for 7 years and 6 years 10 months, respectively.

It appears that Sanford had financial problems. He tried to dispose of KY land willed to his sons by the elder Sanford by acknowledging Power of Attorney to Milajah Harrison, relative in KY, to dispose of land. Apparently an encroacher had come in and claimed the land.[2] Also, he was involved in lawsuits regarding debts with:

Thomas PEAKE - 21 Oct 1822
John MARSHALL - 22 Jun 1825
Esaias HORSEMAN - 1826

The FxCo MB 1822 also shows that Sanford sold 2 slaves to Sarah PEAKE.

The U.S. Census and the personel property tax records in FxCo last list Sanford in 1830. It is believed that he died intestate in 1835.[3]

Birth, marriage, and death dates for Elizabeth (TURLEY) PAYNE are unknown.[4]

TRAVERS PAYNE
(1794-22(19) Dec 1872[1])

Brooke Payne's biography of Travers PAYNE in The Paynes of Virginia, p. 286, is limited to the following paragraph:

> TRAVERS (s 23) b. in Fx. Co. His niece Mrs. Evans (248) is my authority for naming him and Richard as brothers of the last-named Sanford Payne. Travers served as Private in the War of 1812 in Capt. Alexander Howison's Co., 36th Va. Inf., Col. Enoch Renoe Commanding. His name is spelled Travis in these muster-rolls. 1842 he bought land in Ld. Co. at Snickersville (now Bluemont) which he sold 1846. He had a son James who lived in Ld. Co.

Travers was b. in Fairfax Co., VA. He was drafted Jul or Aug 1814 at Dumfries, Pr. Wm. Co., VA for U.S. military service in the War of 1812. He was a pvt in the company commanded by Capt. Alexander Howison, 36th Regt, VA Militia, under the commands of Col. Enoch Renoe and Capt John Merchant. Records vary in giving the dates of service, but indicate that he was on active duty during the period, Jul-Nov 1814.[2]

M(1) Mary WIRE, Loudoun Co, VA, prior to 1820. (The 1820 U.S. Census, Loudoun Co, shows a male and a female between 16 and 26 yrs. in Travers' household and a female child between 0 and 10 yrs.) Mary, b. _____ was the dau of _____ and (_____) WIRE. Mary d., ___ May 1844 in Loudoun Co.[3]

Travers resided in Loudoun Co from 1819 until 1847.[4]

On 4 Oct 1842, Travers bought a house and lot from John Thomas containing "by estimate one Acre more or less lying on the North and South sides of the Turnpike road . . . in Snickersville.[5] On 2 Apr 1846, he sold the property to Armistead M. Johnson.[6] Although listed as a farmer in census records, in 1846, a license was granted to Travers to "keep and ordinary at his house in this County . . . the Court being satisfied that the said Travis Payne is a man of good character, not addicted to drunkenness or gaming.[7]

The exact date of his move to Frederick Co. VA, is not known. But he is listed on the Frederick Co personal property tax records in 1848 and 1849, and in the U.S. Census Frederick Co records for 1850. He m(2) Eliza J. McKEE at Back Creek, Frederick Co, 19 Oct 1848, a Rev Wysong officiating.[8] Eliza, b. _____ 1806, was the dau of _____ and _____ (_____) McKEE.

Travers moved with his new family to Hampshire Co, VA (WV);, where he lived for the rest of his life.

On 30 Oct 1854, he bought 70 acres of land "on the drains of Mill Branch, a branch of Great Cacapon.[9] He bought an additional 9 acres, 18 Apr 1855, which he re-sold 8 Dec 1856.[10] He apparently encountered financial reverses since, on 30 Dec 1856, he transferred personal property to a trustee "to have and to hold in trust for debts owed" to W.H. SHIELDS (husband of his dau, Mariah) and John W. PAYNE, his son, who lived in Taylor Co, VA (WV).[11]

Laws were passed permitting bounty land warrants to be awarded to War of 1812 veterans. Travers applied for a warrant under the Act of Mar 3, 1855, and received Warrant No. 84588, on Jun 17, 1856, granting him 160 acres for his war service.

He also applied for a pension (Application No. 1942). The pension request was denied because of his brief time on active duty. His widow applied in 1880 (Application 38997) under a more liberal pension law (Act of Mar 9, 1878). She d. 10 Mar 1880 prior to completion of her claim.

Travers d. intestate at Great Cacapon and after a lawsuit concerning his estate, a special commissioner was appointed to sell his remaining real estate and provide for Eliza.[12]

Both Travis and Eliza are bur. in Bethel Cem., Trone, VA (Frederick Co, near Gore). Their graves are marked, but there are no dates on the stones.

ROBERT EMMETT PAYNE
(24 Aug 1890-13 Sep 1940)

B. Clarke county, VA 24 Aug 1890. M. 27 Aug 1912 to Mary Sophronia FLEMING in the Methodist parsonage in Berryville, VA by Rev. S.A. Parker.

Mary Sophronia was born 5 Apr 1893 in Paris, VA, dau of Moses Ulisses and Mary C (LITTLETON) FLEMING. Robert Emmett was a farmer all his life, first in Clarke County, and, after 1918, in Jefferson County, WV. As a young farmer, he lived with his family in the tenant house of the "Bradshaw" place near Charles Town. In March 1919, a kitchen stove overheated the chimney and caused a fire which destroyed the house and its contents--except for the kitchen stove. Family tradition says that, when a son, Roscoe, was born in May, he had a birthmark back of his ear resembling a flame. From 1919 until 1922, the family stayed in the "Byington" house--the big house on the farm. They then moved to the "Algumbegs" house on Route 9. Robert Emmett died suddenly of a cerebral hemorrhage at his home on 13 Sep 1940. Mary Sophronia died 10 Nov 1955. Both are buried in Green Hill Cemetery, Berryville, VA.

Robert Emmett's daughter, Elfrieda, said of her father, "My father was a quiet man, but loved to tease and have fun. He was about five feet seven inches and weighed only about one hundred and fifty or sixty pounds . . . Daddy loved his church and was superintendent of the Sunday School at William Memorial United Methodist Church at Shenandoah Junction, WV, for many years until his death . . As for traditions, we always had big Sunday dinners--Chicken--cake--and ice cream after church."

MRS. MARGARET O. CLARK

Mrs. Margaret O. Clark, age 49, wife of former Councilman Wesley W. Clark, died very suddenly late Monday afternoon at her home, 603 West Virginia Avenue. News of her death came as a severe shock to both relatives and friends. She had been feeling badly for some time, but neither she nor relatives regarded the ailment as serious. Death was attributed to a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Clark, a daughter of the late James S. and Mary C. Payne, was born in Clarke

County, Virginia, but had been residing in this city for more than 30 years, having come here when but a child. She and Mr. Clark were married just four months ago. She was a member of First M. E. Church and was held in high esteem by a large circle of friends and acquaintances in the city.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three brothers, J.C. Payne, South Raleigh Street, Champ Payne, of Cumbo, and Raymond, of Baltimore, Maryland.

W. WESLEY CLARK

In failing health for three years and seriously ill for the past month, William Wesley Clark, aged 66, former member of Martinsburg City Council and a veteran employee of Interwoven Mills, here, died Thursday morning at his home, 603 West Virginia Avenue. He was taken seriously ill on Labor Day of last year, and the following week underwent a major operation at King's Daughters Hospital. Although physicians and relatives never held much hope for his complete recovery, he continued to show improvement following his dismissal from the hospital and on several occasions was able to visit the Interwoven plant, making the trips in automobile. About Christmastime last year he contracted a cold, and since then had been growing gradually worse. Death was attributed to a complication of diseases.

The deceased was born at Chestnut Grove in Frederick County, Virginia, on September 6, 1869, a son of the late Johnathan D. and Catherine Loy Clark. He came to Martinsburg more than 35 years ago, and shortly thereafter obtained employment at the Interwoven plant here, working there continuously until taken ill, for the most part as a foreman. A staunch Democrat and active in local politics, he served three two-year terms as a member of Martinsburg City Council, from the old First Ward, being elected by large majorities on each occasion. He was a member of Martinsburg lodges of Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias and the Junior Order, United American Mechanics, and was one of Martinsburg's best known citizens. He was married three times. His first wife was former Miss Anna Whitacre, of Siler, Virginia. Following her death, he married Miss Margaret Payne, this city, who died about four years ago. His third wife, formerly Miss Vernie Moreland, of the county, survives him.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Sidney L. Adams and Phoebe A. Clark, West Virginia Avenue; three brothers, I. Goff Clark, Inwood; Jonathan N. Clark, West King Street; and Lee V. Clark, of Waynesboro, Virginia; a brother-in-law, James Whitacre, of Siler, Virginia, and a number of nieces and nephews in Martinsburg, Virginia, and Washington.

Burial will be made in Chestnut Grove in Frederick County, Virginia but, because of bad conditions of highways many of which were blocked Thursday by snow drifts, members of the family delayed making definite arrangements for the funeral until late Thursday afternoon or Friday.

MR. JOHN F. PAYNE

The announcement of the death of Mr. John F. Payne came as a distinct shock to his friends in Clarke County last week, many of whom had seen him in apparently good health only a few days before.

He had gone on a business trip to the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. John Harvey, about eight miles below Leesburg. Going by rail, he arrived there on Thursday.

The family arose early on Friday morning, and, hearing an unusual noise from his room, went to investigate. The found that he had arisen, and was partially dressed. When asked what was the trouble, he said, "My head seems to be swimming," and seemed to collapse, death ensuing in a little more than ten minutes. Physicians who were hurriedly summoned as soon as it was seen that he was ill, did not arrive until after his death. They pronounced death due to acute indigestion.

He was 56 years of age, and had been twice married. His first wife was Miss Ida May Trussell. Of this union there were nine surviving children, Hunton, James, George, and Frank, all married, and May, Nellie, Emmet, John, and Rodney at home. His second wife was Miss Alice Harvey, who survives him.

He is also survived by the following brothers and sisters, Fenton and Mary, of Morgan's Mill; James, of Martinsburg, W. Virginia; Mrs. John Lee, of Morgan's Mill; Mrs. Frank Starkey, of Marvin Chapel; William of near Berryville, and Robert, of near Winchester.

MRS. LAURA PAYNE

Following an illness of scarcely more than two weeks, Mrs. Laura J. Payne passed away about six o'clock on Monday evening, January 21, at the home near Berryville of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Stipe. While not in robust health in recent years, she was fairly active until a recent attack of influenza, which turned to pneumonia with fatal results.

Mrs. Payne, a life-long resident of Clarke, was born November 6, 1857, the daughter of the late Albert Elsea and Letitia, his wife, who was Miss McClaughry of Orange County, Virginia.

Her husband, the late Wm. L. Payne, with whom she had spent a long married life, died some years ago at their home near Shepherd's Ford in Chapel district. She leaves a large number of nieces and nephews in Clarke. She is the last, but one, of the large number of sons and daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. Elsea, the one surviving brother being Newton H. Elsea of Bluemont, Virginia.

Mrs. Payne inherited much of the good sense and sound judgement of her father, who was one of the sturdy, rugged, influential citizens of our county in his day. She had little patience with present day frivolities, extravagances and amusements. She grew to womanhood in the days when self denial, and not self indulgence, moulded character and directed people's lives. The stern frugalities practiced in early life she did not exchange for the improvidences of today. And so, fortified against adversity, she lived quietly, peacefully and measurable happily during the dark days which have overtaken the world.

For many years a member of the Mountain Baptist Church, her Christian faith was implicit and unfailing.

MANLEY C. PAYNE

Mr. Manly Carl Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Payne, a veteran of the world war, died last Thursday afternoon at his parents' home on the Senseny Road, from the effects of being gassed while serving the American forces in France. He was 26 years old.

Funeral services were held from the home of his parents Sunday and interment made in Mt. Hebron Cemetery at Winchester. The services were conducted by Rev. H.G. Spencer, of the Methodist Church.

Corporal Payne was a brave soldier and he made a record of which his family can well be very proud. He enlisted in the U.S. Army in the early part of 1917, and sailed for France on June 15, 1918, remaining overseas until May, 1919, when he returned to this county. He was promoted to corporal in the winter of 1917, and served as such throughout the entire war. During the attack on Molleville Farm, October 5, 1918, Corporal Payne displayed much bravery in action, and was under heavy gas attack, from which he never fully recovered.

He first noticed the after effects of the gas which he had received in action on August 3, 1920. He was brought to Winchester Memorial Hospital on September 11, of that year, remaining there three months, and then was taken to the government hospital at Fort McHenry, near Baltimore, where, after six months' treatment, showed no improvement until about four weeks ago, when he was taken worse, losing strength and vitality until the end came.

MRS. MARY CORNELIA PAYNE

A distressing accident resulting in the tragic death of Mrs. Mary Cornelia Payne, 603 West Virginia Avenue, occurred Sunday evening, about 7:15 at the intersection of King and Raleigh Streets. Mrs. Payne, who was crossing the street on the way to services at Trinity Episcopal Church, of which denomination she was a lifelong member was struck by the automobile driven by Elbert Rogers. It is understood that Mrs. Payne was hurled some distance by the impact and when picked up was partly conscious. Mr. Rogers, who was accompanied by James Alton Payne, grandson of the stricken woman, stopped his car and the sufferer was immediately taken to City Hospital. It fell to the lot of young Mr. Payne to carry his aged grandmother into the hospital. She failed to respond to treatment and sank rapidly, passing away about 12:10 Sunday night. Death was due to the shock as well as injuries, which are believed to have been internal as well as ugly lacerations about the head. So far as can be ascertained, there will be no coroner's inquest.

The body was prepared for burial by Funeral Directors Kogelschatz and Coffman and removed to the home of a son, J.C. Payne, 325 South Raleigh Street. The funeral will be held Wednesday morning, relatives and friends meeting at the late home at 10 o'clock and proceeding to Trinity Episcopal Church, where the last services will be held, conducted by the Rev. John L. Oldham, rector. The vestry of the church will act as pallbearers and the remains will be taken to Spring Mills and there laid to rest beside her husband, the late James S. Payne, who died some eighteen years ago on the 15th of March and was buried on the 17th.

Mrs. Payne was a highly esteemed woman and came from an old and well known Clarke County (VA) family. She was born in that county and would have been 76 years of age had she survived until next August. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Champ Shepherd and her mother came from an equally old family, that of the Richardsons. The Paynes came here about 42 years ago and had resided here ever since.

ELWOOD WILEY

The death of a Clarke County man whose body was discovered Friday morning is under investigation by the Clarke County Sheriff's Department as an apparent murder.

According to Clarke County Sheriff Albert Nicodemus Saturday night, Elwood Wiley, 66, "appears to have been murdered". Two shots from a handgun caused his death.

Deputy Shep Clifton, whom Nicodemus said is heading a department-wide investigation, said Saturday night that oral results of an autopsy at the state criminal laboratory in Fairfax, which were returned Saturday, revealed "certain facts which lead us to believe it (Wiley's death) was other than self-inflicted."

Initially, according to Deputy Clifton, authorities thought the man's death could possibly have been self-inflicted.

Clifton said deputies went to Wiley's residence in Clarke County just outside Paris around 8:10 a.m. Friday after the body was discovered. Clifton said Wiley lived alone.

Deputy Clifton said the death is "under investigation by the department as a team effort" and that the investigation is continuing.

Sheriff Nicodemus said that Wiley appeared to have been dead for about 12 hours before his body was discovered.

A funeral service for Wiley will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at Providence Chapel in Clarke County with the Rev. Mr. Campbell officiating. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Mr. Wiley was born in Virginia in 1913, son of the late Reese G. and Ollie P. Wiley. He was a retired veteran of the U. S. Air Force.

Surviving are a number of cousins.
